CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

For
Contract, Work-Study, and Intern Students

Maintaining confidential information is a high priority in all offices, classrooms, labs, student lounge areas, and other work areas. While you work here, you may have access to confidential information about students, faculty, and staff. You must be extremely cautious not to let that information slip out through idle comments or innocent conversation. You as students who work with information closely, are particularly vulnerable to requests from friar information. There is only one correct response to these questions: NO!

The object of this orientation is to heighten your awareness and sensitivity to the confidentiality of information kept within this office. By following the intent of these guidelines, you will protect yourself and the office from possible lawsuits. Failure to observe these guidelines will result in your termination of employment and possibly prevent us from giving you a positive recommendation.

Regardless of the function you are performing in our office, it is extremely important for you to have some knowledge of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), commonly called the Buckley Amendment. A detailed description can be found in the YCCC Catalog & Student Handbook under "Right to Privacy." You should read it and be familiar with the policy. Basically, the law was designed to protect the privacy of a student's educational records and to ensure the right of a student to inspect and review the educational records. Some information about a student is considered to be public. The following information is considered "directory information" and could be given out to the public.

1. Student's name
2. Major
3. Class
4. Local and home address
5. Telephone number
6. Dates of attendance
7. Degrees received

All other information, that is, grades, schedules, courses taken, application information, the status of a student's account, and their financial aid is confidential and cannot be given to anyone, even the student, without the student's written release.

Normally, you should not be in a position in which you would have to give out any of the above information. It is always better to get a staff member to answer those inquiries.

If you have any questions about these issues, please feel free to speak with your supervisor. Thank you.

I understand that by the virtue of my employment with the York County Community College, I may have access to records and or conversations, which contain individually identifiable information, the disclosure of which is prohibited by the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. I acknowledge that I fully understand that the intentional disclosure by me of information to any unauthorized person could subject me to criminal and civil penalties imposed by law. I further acknowledge that such willful or unauthorized disclosure also violates (institution's) policy and could constitute just cause for disciplinary action, including termination of my employment regardless of whether criminal or civil penalties are imposed.
